Gareth,

Thanks for your reply. Just to complete the whole picture, the owners of Lowry's cafe have maintained the floral display this year outside of their cafe. As a nearby resident, I have maintained the other two in the absence of anyone else.

I look forward to hearing the views of the Committee.

Hi Stephen

I've never known who had formal ownership of the barrels - I think it was one of those projects where the Town Council was expected to pick up the tab. I'll get Steve C to bring it to committee and we'll see what council's opinion is.

Hi,

You may be aware that on the Quayside there are 13 x barrels used for floral displays.

In the last two years, the Berwick Community Trust has taken responsibility for 10 of these. They have recently secured some funding to replace them as most are in poor condition.

Can you help me clarify who has responsibility for the other three? The Community Trust are adamant that it's not them. Those in question are the one outside Lowry's cafe and two in the car park next to the former Pictorial Photography office. It would be a shame not to replace these too to keep a common standard.

Many thanks,

Stephen Scott
